COVINA BANQUET.

Chamber of Commerce Function Will Be Attended by Many Disting-guished Guests.

The Chamber of Commerce banquet, which is to be served by the ladies of the Monday Afternoon Club, Tuesday, Nov. 2nd, bids fair to be the most successful social event of the season.
It will also be an unusual opportunity to learn useful facts for practical work.

The banquet itself will reveal the genius and wizardry of our local housewives, for in spite of the citrus tariff prosperity, the resourcefulness of our women has not been foreshortened, neither have their hands lost their cunning.

Prof. R. W. Groom has been a very busy man of late, but reports that his orchestra is in fine form and that a most agreeable surprise is in store
in the girls' glee club.

It will give great pleasure to her many friends in this community to hear that the newly organized Chamber of Commerce has seized the first opportunity to demonstrate its appreciation of our most distinguished townswoman, in making Ellen Beach Yaw the guest of honor at this banquet. The fine things of life are not to be overlooked in the Chamber of Commerce movement and we shall not be so busy with the day's work that we shall ignore sweet singers, brave hearts or gentle spirits.

We shall not be parsimonious with either money of praise, for "there is nothing so good as a good meal."

The secretary hoped to announce that Mr. Frank Wiggins would be our guest on this occasion, but it is possible he may not arrive from the North in time. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will be represented, however, also several other similar bodies
from neighboring cities, as follows:
P. E. Hatch, Long Beach; J. L. Miller,
Long Beach; E. C. Bichowsky, Pomona;
W. H. Truitt, Pomona; W. H.
Evans, Monrovia; Walter F. Dunn,
Monrovia; C. H. Converse, Glendora;
Ward A. Stevens, Azusa; H. C. Wentworth, Glendora.

Congressman James McLachlan has accepted an invitation to be present and will speak during the evening.

The Los Angeles County Highway Commission has also consented to attend and an interesting talk may be expected from this body. Capt. Manning of the County Board of Supervisors has also promised to be present.

It will be seen that the evening will not lack in either dignity or brilliance, and the decoration committee of the Monday Afternoon Club is making a special effort to make the setting worthy.

The doors of the hall are to be opened at 7 p.m. sharp, and the guests will enter to the strains of "Our Directors," (Daniels), by Prof. Groom's high school orchestra, after which all will join in the singing of "America" and remain standing while grace is said
by Rev. Paul G. Stevens.

In the intervals between courses the glee club will sing several numbers and the following gentlemen will reply to toasts: Mayor E. H. Lahee, Rev. H. W. White, Rev. S. W. Gage,
J. W. Calvert, Prof. J. J. Morgan, Rev.
A. Fletcher, Capt. Manning, H. W.
Wells.

Toastmaster Matthews has ruled that no toast shall be of more than five minutes' duration. This rule will of necessity be enforced as there are many guests whom the toastmaster will desire to call upon.

Following is the menu to be served.

Tomato cocktails	Saltines
Roast turkey
Cranberry sauce
Cream potatoes
Celery Olives Pickles
Banana salad	Wafers
Ice cream	Assorted cake

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Irwindale Citrus Association Packing House With Contents Totally Destroyed.

On Saturday morning last at 10 o'- clock a fire broke out in the basement of the Covina Citrus Association's packing house at Irwindale and despite all efforts of the manager and his assistants the building and its contents, which consisted of two carloads of Valencia oranges, packed ready for shipping, all the valuable machinery and stores, together with the new ten-roomed house just north of the packing house, owned by G. W.
Krum, were totally destroyed, an empty refrigerator fruit car standing on the Southern Pacific railroad siding
also fell a prey to the flames.

This had been a busy season at the Irwindale packing house, two hundred cars of fruit having been shipped, and there remained only fifteen boxes to be packed to have completed the most prosperous season in the history of the house, when the gasoline engine in the basement back-fired, throwing the burning gasoline about the engine room. Abner Miller and Leroy Blauchard, who were in the room, attempted to smother the flames with small chemical fire extinguishers, but owing to the dry and inflammable nature of the surroundings the fire spread with lightning rapidity and compelled them
to look to their own safety.

The books and valuable papers were saved with much difficulty. Steve Ayon, a Mexican boy, had a narrow escape, he being nearly overcome with the smoke while saving the dairy sheets. Several of the employees lost their coats and valuable watches. Mr.
Miller sustained severely sprained ankles in jumping from the roof of the Krum residence, where he had been doing dangerous work in his endeavors to save that structure. Some idea of the heat caused by the conflagration may be obtained from the fact that the home of B. Miller, which stands well back on the opposite side of the road and considerably north of the packing house, was only saved
by a liberal use of wet blankets.

The loss, which will amount to $10-000, is fully covered by a policy in the mutual insurance branch of the California Fruit Growers Exchange. Mr.
Krum, who places his loss at $3,000,
carried an insurance of $2,000.

The work of building a new packing house equipped with the most improved machinery will be commenced
at once and rushed to completion.

Road Overseer Resigns.

On account of his extensive ranch
and other business interests, J. L.
Mottor resigned this week his position as road overseer for the Covina district. His friends knew that he had been seriously considering this action for over a year. Supervisor Manning was in Covina on Thursday and appointed Henry Hasselhelder to fill the vacancy.

Bishop Scadding to Preach Here.

The Right Reverend D. Scadding,
Bishop of Oregon, will preach in Holy Trinity Church tomorrow at the 11 o'clock service. At evening, it being the eve of All Saints' Day, the subject will be "The Blessedness of the Departed." Bishop Scadding is related by marriage to Mrs. J. A. Egan and Miss Pomeroy, whose guest he will be during his stay in Covina.

Theatrical Notes

MAJESTIC.

A Cohan play, under the management of Cohan and Harris, is booked at the Majestic next week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

It is a rural musical comedy of New England life and is said to be one of the best which clever Geo. M. Cohan has written.

The players who interpret the several roles are people with reputations for conscientious work. Dan Williams will appear in the role of "Harrigan" and his song, "Harrigan," has become one of the most popular hits of the day.

For the scenes of the play Mr. Cohan has gone to the village of Brookfield, Mass., which is fifty miles from Boston, and he has there selected some of the types that make up the inhabitants of the little town, and has drawn them so carefully that they are said to live in the atmosphere of the play and plot he has devised.

"Fifty Miles From Boston" might have been quite as great a success without the introduction of a song, but Cohan's cohorts have come to believe that no play from his pen is complete without music. Therefore he gave it to them and in this, his latest handwork, he has supplied some fascinating numbers. They are entitled "Jack and Jill," which is a down-to-the-minute version of the old lullaby your mother was wont to sing to you when dangling you on her knee, "A Small Town Gal," "Boys Who Fight the Flames," "Ain't It Awful," "Harrigan," and "Waltz With Me." They are all decidedly Colanque and melodic and therefore will be found funny and whistly to a degree. Of course there will be a chorus and to the number of about fifty voices, that have been selected with special care.

BURBANK.

"Brown of Harvard," a play which is to the big university at Cambridge just what "Strongheart" is to Columbia; "On the Quiet" to Yale, and "The College Widow" to anyone of a score of inland colleges, is announced for presentation at the Burbank during the week beginning with a matinee performance tomorrow (Sunday) and including the usual Saturday matinee. The piece is perhaps one of the very best college plays ever written, as it certainly has proved to be one of the most popular. By Rida Johnson Young, it was used during several seasons as a starring vehicle for Harry Woodruff, who first played it in Los Angeles, and whose leading woman was the clever California actress, Laura Hope Crews.

"Brown of Harvard" is not a football play. Its hero is an oarsman, a member of the "varsity eight" who is called upon to stroke the crimson crew to victory in a race against a British eight and who does so in the face of all sorts of difficulties. The play, however, concerns itself chiefly with a love story, the boat race being merely one, though a decidedly interesting, incident of the plot.

BELASCO THEATRE.

The Belasco company will give the first performance in the West, Monday night, of "The Regeneration," Owen Kildare's play of New York Eastside life. In New York, last season, Arnold Daly was seen in "The Regeneration," and scored one of the most substantial successes of the season. The play was accorded a vast amount of critical praise, while it proved to possess those vital qualities that attract large audiences to the play house.

In the Belasco production of "The Regeneration," Lewis S. Stone will have the role of Owen Conway, the part that was created by Mr. Daly. Conway is the leader of a band of young ruffians, and he also tries his hand at Tammany politics.

The people that are to be found in "The Regeneration" are real types of East Siders, for the author, Mr. Kildare, is one of these people and therefore knows whereof he writes. He has been termed the "Bowery King," and in "The Regeneration" many people aver that Kildare has laid bare the story of his own life, very much after the same style that Jack London has unfolded his personal experiences in his latest work.

Thias Magrane will have the important part of Marie Deering, the young school teacher.

Following "The Regeneration," the Belasco company will give for the first time in this theater Minnie Dupree's famous eastern success, "The Road to Yesterday."

LEAND OPERA HOUSE.

Continuing with the success of Sunday, Ferris Hartman and his company will give a new production of their excellent musical comedy, "The Road to Yesterday," the first production in this city by a stock organization of James T. Powers recent hit, "The Blue Moon." The opening Sunday will also be notable as it will serve to introduce to the theater goers of Los Angeles another of Mr. Hartman's prima donnas, Miss Dorothy Morton, who will sing the leading role of Chandra Nil, a singing girl. Miss Morton is the possessor of a beautiful rich soprano voice and in the leading role in "The Blue Moon" will give much added strength to the company, and as Chandra Nil will have many delightful lyrical numbers in this Oriental musical play. Ferris Hartman will also be seen in an entirely different role from any which he has appeared in before a Los Angeles public, that of Private Charlie Taylor, in which he surprised San Francisco when he produced the play there four weeks ago.

The locale of the play allows much opportunity for beautiful stage pictures and gorgeous costuming for the Hartman chorus, who will be seen in a number of catchy songs. Altogether "The Blue Moon" is one of those delightful English musical comedies that is radiant with life, color and music and its production is expected to excel all previous efforts of the Hartman organization.

Following "The Blue Moon," Ferris Hartman and his company will give Richard Carle's famous musical comedy success, "The Mayor of Tokio," with comedian Hartman in the original Carle role of Marcus Orlando Kidder.

THE AUDITORIUM.

"The Ringmaster," the Shuberts' first dramatic success of the season, will begin a limited engagement Monday, Nov. 4th, at the auditorium, coming direct from the Maxine Elliott theater, New York, with a big cast of metropolitan favorites. The story is a most absorbing one of Wall street intrigue. John Le Baron, whose father was a man of sharp business practices, prefers a life of ease rather than following in the footsteps of his parent. Eleanor Hillary, daughter of Richard Hillary, known as "The Ringmaster of Wall Street," meets Le Baron abroad, where they fall in love. She endeavors to persuade him to return to New York and take up life as a broker.

He comes back to his home and is soon invited to take part in the formation of a copper trust, which plan Richard Hillary is putting through with Senators Craven and MacElroy, president of the Eastern Railroad. The object is to buy all the stock of the Eastern Railroad, which is the feeder of the company in Colorado, thus crippling the copper organization and forcing it into submission.

When Le Baron learns of this he refuses to take part, but wrings from the trio a promise that they will desist. Believing that they will keep their promise, he boards his private yacht and sets sail for Europe, and at the same time Hillary engaged passage on an Atlantic liner. While at sea, however, two guests of Le Baron intercept a message to Hillary which graphically tells that the scheme has not been dropped. Le Baron returns to New York and how he defeats the "Ringmaster" forms a most interesting part of the story.

The cast includes H. S. Northrup, Frederick Montague, F. A. Yalvington, Alice Weeks, Harry D. Crossman, John Watts, Francis Learned, Raymond Carpenter, Clara Collman and Anna Lee.

High School Items

Santa Ana High School has chosen the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that centralization of city and county government best subserves the interests of the governed," for our debate, which will be held here the evening before Thanksgiving. Covina's debaters will be Fred Chamberlen and Leslie Shipway.

Monday morning Miss Griswold gave the students a talk regarding Naples, Italy, and vicinity. Many interesting phases of Neapolitan life were presented by the speaker.

Seats have been installed in the gallery of the auditorium, thus completing the seating capacity.

Walter Hepner, '09, was a visitor Monday.

The basketball court is in good shape and one game, between the Senior and Junior teams, has been played. The Juniors won by quite a large score, and are practicing daily and getting into shape for other games to be played soon.

The girls' Glee Club, under the leadership of Prof. Groom, is progressing.

The Juniors' hats are "the talk of the school," and the other classes are consumed with jealousy because they did not think of them before. The colors of the hats are white with a gold band, and they have the numerals "11" upon the front. A monogram, "C.U.H.S.," is also put on top of the hat, signifying that the owners are members of the Covina Union High School.

A series of debates have been held this week for the purpose of securing material for the debating work. The teams which secured the greatest number of points are: first division, Grant Chapman and Dell Harnish; second division, Leslie Shipway and Imo Van Anken.

Thursday morning Miss Lemonds gave a program on the Victor Victrola, consisting of old Scotch songs rendered by noted artists. The program was intended primarily for the tenth year as they are studying old English and Scottish songs in their English work, but it was greatly appreciated by the entire school.

Miss Myrtle Schroepel of Mount Pleasant, Ohio, visited Covina High several times the past week as the guest of Dell Harnish of the Senior class.

Covina Dye Works

Just a little talk this week on cleaning and pressing. A great many people don't understand that there is a fine distinction between thoroughly cleaning a suit or dress and just rubbing the spots in and pressing it. They soon find out after wearing it a few times the spots all come back. Didn't get their money's worth. Bunched, as it were. That isn't the Covina Dye Works' way. We understand the business as a fine art. There's class about our work you don't get in an ordinary cleaning shop. When you pay for anything here you are getting your money's worth every time. Come in and let us show you the difference. Work talks. Remember we make calls and deliveries.

Surprised Their Friends.

Mr. Glenn J. Gilmore and Miss Cella M. Kendall, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kendall of Irwindale, certainly surprised their many friends on Monday by being quietly married shortly after noon of that day at the parsonage of the first Baptist Church of this city, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. S. W. Gage.

After the ceremony the young couple left on the electric car for the home of the bride's parents, where the parental blessings were quickly forthcoming after Mr. and Mrs. Kendall had recovered from their first surprise.

The young couple had been lovers since childhood, but neither of them had given their friends the slightest warning that an early marriage might be looked for.

They left on the evening train for Riverside, their future home, where the groom has a lucrative position. The groom's parents, who reside in Riverside, entertained a large party of friends Tuesday evening in honor of the bride and groom.

Miss Kendall was a native of this valley and her bright and lovable nature has made her many friends among the young people. She was an active worker in the Baptist Church.

Monday Afternoon Club.

The largest attendance of the Monday Afternoon Club was recorded this week, the occasion being the opening of the current events section under Mrs. Chas. Coman.

Mrs. Coman's talk was full of interest and instruction. She spoke first of the advantage that the Chamber of Commerce will prove to Covina, and of the needs of the town and the duty of the club to cooperate with that body.

A list of new books of merit was next given and the leading events of our country and the world at large, of recent date, were touched upon.

At the business session it was decided unanimously to provide the banquet for the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

The following members were elected delegates to the coming district convention at Pasadena: Misses Chas. Coman, W. M. Griswold, R. M. Douglass, and C. D. Jennings.

Arrangements are being perfected for the chrysanthemum and baby show to be held Tuesday, Nov. 9th.

Next Monday, Nov. 1st, will be an open meeting and will be the beginning of the art and travel section. Miss E. M. Griswold will give an account of her recent trip to Europe.

Any Covina resident desiring to enter a chrysanthemum exhibit should call up Mrs. S. S. Aschenbrenner, phone 4252. Mothers of babies to be entered call up the Misses Reynolds, phone 4028.

Brotherhood Banquet.

Last Tuesday evening at 7:30 the Ladies' Aid of the Christian Church served a banquet for the Brotherhood. The menu, for which a charge of 25 cents a plate was made, consisted of Boston baked beans, Boston brown bread, wienewurst, fruit salad, olives, pickles, pumpkin and mince pie, coffee, cheese.

Mr. R. R. Crabtree, president, acted as toastmaster.

The banquet room was decorated with pumpkin colored tissue paper and Jack-o'-lanterns. The following program was given in the main auditorium: Piano solo, Miss Anna Reynolds; vocal duet, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Heath; two numbers by male quartet, Messrs. Ira Stanton, Ravenscroft, Reetz and Blanchard; two violin solos by Miss Barber, a guest of Mrs. C. S. Berry, were received with much applause. There were seventy-two in attendance.

The Brotherhood is an organization along lodge lines which was started among the male members of the Christian Church for their mutual benefit, socially and religiously, and for benevolent and philanthropic work in the community. The membership is not confined to church members. The banquets will be held monthly.

COVINA MEETS FIRST DEFEAT.

Crack Ventura Team Hands Out Initial Reverse of Season to the San Felipe.

Landed to the skies by press and fanfare, with an unbroken record of victories behind them, backed to the limit by their own supporters and those of their opponents, the Covina San Felipe suffered its first defeat at the hands of the crack Ventura team last Sunday in the northern town. After dancing all night and with but a few hours' sleep, crowding into an omnibus and driving twelve hours in the wee small hours before taking a long railroad journey, was one of the reasons for the poor showing made by the locals. It is to be regretted, however, that circumstances forced such a state of affairs to the front as the game was watched with a great deal of interest by those higher up in the baseball world. The locals had gained a great reputation and to have them put up such a poor exhibition at such a time lost them the greater part of the fruits of their labors.

The Ventura team was handicapped by the absence of their twelfth. On this account the umpire, shortly before the commencement of the game, called all bets off.

Covina started bravely, despite her crippled team, they played glibly for the first three innings. Miller pitched with his usual unimpaired style and the whole team was with him, playing as if their life hung in the balance. The last of the fourth, however, the hosts fell upon the locals and great was the fall thereof. Three hits were annexed off Miller's offerings, which, coupled with an error by Jess Wilson, allowed three runs cross the plate. From here the locals could do nothing. If one of them succeeded in getting the ball into his clutches the lucky man immediately succumbed to stage fright and held the ball until the runner was laughing at him from first base. Ten errors appear in the score book against the Saints.

Covina's first and only score came in the sixth. Ping Fairly was safe on drew four and chess scored Fairly from second by a timely single.

Ventura scored one more in the seventh, making a total of five.

Had the San Felipe been playing in form and with their regular team there might have been some interesting ball delivered to the bean-town fans.

SAN FELICE DISBAND.

Manager Covert has handed in his resignation as manager of the Covina San Felipe team and the team has disbanded.

The personnel of the team will be scattered. Miller and Chess going to play with Ingersfield. Jess Wilson will be with the Pasadena team, and his brother, Jim, has signed with the Redondo team in the winter league. Aguayo, Montague and Ping Fairly will continue with the White Squadron, reorganized, although Montague may accept the offer of Manager Abrams of the Long Beach team to play in that city. Bradley and Bush Thompson are playing with Azusa.

WHITE SQUADRON REORGANIZES.

The White Squadron team has reorganized and will begin playing ball a week from tomorrow, next Sunday being too early a date to begin operations after so long an absence from the game. Harley Garrison has been elected manager in the place of Asher, who will play with Pasadena. Kendall has been chosen to captain the team.

BLOOMER GIRLS TODAY.

Manager Gidbreath and his Boston Bloomer Girls will play the Covina San Felipe team today on the Citrus avenue grounds. The game is attracting considerable interest among the neighboring towns and a large crowd is expected. Miller and Chess will compose the battery for the locals. May Waddell, who claims to be the greatest woman ball player in the world, will pitch for the Bloomer girls.

Gold Medal Awarded.

R. M. Teague, proprietor of the San Thomas Citrus Nurseries, was notified this week that the trees he exhibited at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition have been awarded the gold medal. This makes the fourth medal these nurseries have received at expositions, the awards coming from the Pan American, St. Louis, Lewis & Clark and Seattle.

FIRE SWEEPS HILLS.

Started Near Puente and Swept the San Jose Range for a Distance of Miles.

On Saturday last a dense column of smoke risen from the south side of the San Jose hills near Puente gave notice to the inhabitants of Covina and district that a fire was raging in that locality. It appears that a number of men were engaged in burning cactus on the Sentuous ranch, near Puente, when a brisk breeze sprang up and the pasture being very dry, owing to the late hot weather, the fire got away from them and spread with great rapidity. It soon topped the ridge. Although help was summoned and soon more than one hundred men were engaged in vigorously fighting it, it swept eastward toward Pomona and northward toward the valley.

The sight from Covina as the shades of evening fell was very picturesque, the fire outlining the contour of the range from Puente almost to Pomona, the fire swiftly running to the top of the highest peaks and lighting the tall trees growing there, which blazed like immense torches against the sky line, and again more slowly eating its way down the northern slope in irregular but in ever-advancing lines of fire like the outposts of a beleaguered city.

Rabbits by the thousands were driven from their hiding places in the brush and half dazed and half smoldered, fell an easy prey to the hundreds of people who lined the roads and watched the scene from every point of vantage.

All the stock on the Chapman Heights ranch was rounded up and corralled, men being placed to watch over their safety while others fought the fire by back-firing and other means and succeeded in saving the 200 acres of good pasturage. The energetic work done by the fire fighters confined the fire almost entirely to the dry pasturage and the orange lands to the north of the hills sustained no damage.

This is the most extensive fire that has occurred in the San Jose hills since 1886, when thousands of acres of grain were destroyed.

Samuel Avery.

Samuel Avery, the aged father of Irwin Avery, died at his son's home on the San Bernardino road and Lark Ellen street at 6:30 Saturday morning. Mr. Avery was born in Lowville, New York, in the year 1824. The greater part of his life was spent at Pipestone, Minn., where he was regarded as a prominent business man and where he held social and political offices of eminence. Seven years ago he came to California from Minnesota and for the last two years has been a resident of Covina.

Mr. Avery has borne with great fortitude his long and painful illness. He had been a widower for nine years and although the father of three children, he is only survived by his son, Irwin Avery, the other children, Eugene and Elsie, having died in the state of Minnesota.

The funeral service was conducted from the family residence at 10:30 Monday morning. Rev. Perry, neighbor of the deceased, and a former minister of the Free Will Baptist Church of which Mr. Avery was a member for about thirty years, conducted the service. Miss Ellen Beach Yaw, who is also a neighbor of the Avery family, sang a few well known hymns. Interment was made at Oakdale cemetery.
